

The California Telehealth Policy Coalition

SEPTEMBER 2020

The California Telehealth Policy Coalition is a nonpartisan affiliation of over 80 organizations and individuals that meets monthly to discuss emerging telehealth policy issues in California and cooperative means of advancing telehealth policy. The Coalition began in 2011 when AB 415, The Telehealth Advancement Act, was introduced, and has continued to meet as telehealth becomes ever more integral to health care delivery in California. The diversity of our member organizations reflects telehealth's reach in California.

The Center for Connected Health Policy convenes the Coalition and facilitates our Education and Legislation Committees. The Coalition focuses on stakeholder education, including producing webinars and creating fact sheets, and legislative action, including policy analysis and developing model policy.

Principles:

The Coalition supports policies, legislation and activities that

Promote access and coverage of telehealth services

Enhance care coordination by reinforcing the patient-centered medical home

Promote provider and patient engagement in health care

Reinforce the clinical quality of telehealth services

Ensure data privacy and security
